Police Precept 2020/2021

A message from Cleveland Police and Crime Commissioner, Barry Copping

The latest government funding settlement for policing in Cleveland provides £10m more cash than in 2019/20, as long as we raise the Council Tax police precept by £10 a year for a Band D property.

I have campaigned for a reversal to the cuts to our policing for a number of years, so I welcome news of this investment, which must be maintained year on year.

Our priority over the next few months is to ensure 2020 marks a turning point for Cleveland Police and to make sure they implement rapid improvements so you get the policing services you need.

It is not an option to keep the previous level of precept, if we want to maintain and develop Cleveland Police.

I recently carried out a survey of residents' opinions and almost 64% of respondents said they were in favour of a £10 precept increase. Thank you to everyone who took part.

I presented the findings to the Police and Crime Panel who unanimously agreed to my proposed increase.

It is never a decision I take lightly, however a precept increase allows Cleveland Police to maintain its current momentum and become a force to be reckoned with.

I've been encouraged by the green shoots of progress the Force has started to make, including the launch of a new Vulnerability Strategy, new Neighbourhood Policing arrangements and the recruitment of senior leaders, but there still is a long way to go.

We are committed to funding 160 officers, who will be working, by summer of this year, alongside existing PCSOs to make a 240-strong Neighbourhood Policing team across the Cleveland area.

Every day I see the great work of our officers, staff and volunteers, of whom I am extremely proud. We also pay tribute to those dedicated and committed residents, without whom we could not make the progress we do in keeping our communities safe. Thanks to you all for your support.
