Cleveland PCC @Cleveland_PCC

Today I'm announcing my support for a new ground breaking pilot to tackle drug addiction in Middlesbrough.

The scheme will target a small group of chaotic heroin-dependent offenders for whom all traditional treatments have failed.

Looking forward to seeing how this progresses. Comprehensive strategic direction to tackle the most chaotic drug addicts might just work.
Good luck @Cleveland_PCC

Yes,more health issue than criminal one,for sure. What about mental health of those criminalised/imprisoned for breaking unscientific,arbitrary,inhumane laws? Those who cannot get jobs,whose bright futures are tarnished forever,who live with the stigma of such cruel persecution?!

Great idea 💡 as long as it's delivered in a highly effective way. A community based rehab and addicts have to follow strict conditions to have access to the heroin. If it's done properly it should work. For the Die-hards they will probably just die!

Similar approach is adopted in Germany - Frankfurt in particular - and has been a success. If they are addicted to heroin then it's better to give them a safe environment to administer the drug than allow them to do it shivering in the cold and potentially kill themselves.

Well done to the @Cleveland_PCC for this. Evidence based policy is crucial.
This is where compassion for the vulnerable just so happens to be the best crime reduction measure available.

Evidence based HAT been around for decades, great to see it finally promoted 👍

Yes try to wean people off dirty street gear

BUT don't allow the scheme to push people off clean injectable drugs

Wait til they are ready, able & wanting
