

CLEVELAND POLICE

ANNUAL GOVERNANCE STATEMENT

Position as at 31st March 2024

1. Evaluation

Following this review, governance and decision-making arrangements continue to be regarded as fit for purpose in accordance with the governance framework.

Having considered all the principles, we are satisfied that the organisation has adopted a response that is appropriate for its fraud and corruption risks and commits to maintain its vigilance to tackle fraud.

Mark Webster
Chief Constable
Cleveland Police

Ian Wright
Director of Finance and Assets
Cleveland Police

Date 31st May 2024

2. Scope of responsibility

- 2.1 Following the introduction of the Police Reform and Social Responsibility Act (2011) the position of Chief Constable has been established as a Corporation Sole. For the purposes of this document the terms Chief Constable, the Force and Cleveland Police should be read as one and the same.
- 2.2 The Chief Constable is responsible for ensuring Force business is conducted in accordance with the financial governance arrangements outlined in the CIPFA Financial Management Code for the Police Service of England and Wales (2019). The Chief Constable also has a statutory duty to secure value for money in the use of public funds.
- 2.3 In discharging this overall responsibility, the Chief Constable is responsible for putting in place proper arrangements for the governance of the Force, facilitating the effective exercise of its functions, which includes arrangements for the management of risk.
- 2.4 Cleveland Police has an established Corporate Governance Framework through which the Chief Constable can be assured that the Force's systems, policies, and people are focused in a way that is driving the delivery of agreed priorities. Along with focus on key risks to the delivery of those priorities the governance framework also provides assurance that the Force operates in an efficient and effective manner.
- 2.5 This statement meets the requirements of Accounts and Audit Regulations 2015, regulation 6(1)b, which requires all relevant bodies to prepare an annual governance statement.

3. The purpose of the governance framework

- 3.1 The governance framework comprises the culture, values systems, processes, and assurance framework by which the Force is directed and controlled and the activities through which it accounts to, engages with and leads its community. It enables the Force to monitor the achievement of its priorities and to consider whether they have led to the delivery of efficient and effective services.
- 3.2 The system of internal control is a significant part of that framework and is designed to manage risk to a reasonable level. It cannot eliminate all risk of failure to achieve policies, aims and objectives and can therefore only provide reasonable and not absolute assurance of effectiveness. The system of internal control is based on an ongoing process designed to identify and prioritise the risks to the achievement of the Cleveland Police's priorities, to evaluate the likelihood and potential impact of those risks being realised, and to manage them efficiently, effectively, and economically.
- 3.3 This governance framework has been in place at Cleveland Police for the year ended 31st March 2024, and up to the date of the approval of the accounts.

4. The governance framework

- 4.1 The Force has a joint corporate governance framework with the Police and Crime Commissioner (PCC) for Cleveland. The framework sets out the way that the two organisations, the Police and Crime Commissioner and the Chief Constable, govern, both jointly and separately. The framework also details the delegations and consents from the PCC to the Force and outlines the specific roles and responsibilities of officers. The framework is reviewed and amended as necessary on an annual basis.
- 4.2 The Chief Constable is responsible for the delivery of operational policing, the direction and control of police personnel, and for putting in place proper arrangements for the governance of the Force. The Chief Constable also has a statutory duty under section 35 of Police Reform and Social Responsibility Act (2011) to secure that they and the persons under their direction and control secure value for money in exercising their functions.
- 4.3 The Police and Crime Commissioner (PCC) for Cleveland is responsible for ensuring that the Chief Constable delivers an efficient and effective police force and holds the Chief Constable to account for the operational delivery of policing.
- 4.4 In addition to the Annual Governance Statement (AGS) for Cleveland Police, the PCC is also required to produce an AGS. The two AGS's complement each other by:
 - outlining the key methods of assurance which operate in each body to ensure that, overall effective control is exercised;
 - showing which key documents/reports of Cleveland Police are scrutinised by the PCC as part of wider accountability;
 - demonstrating how the policing elements of the Police & Crime Plan are delivered by Cleveland Police and are underpinned by public consultation on the part of the PCC as part of wider accountability.
- 4.5 Both the PCC and Cleveland Police must produce separate accounts which are then consolidated into group accounts. This ensures that both individual and collective financial stewardship of public money is effective and is underpinned by annual external audit. In addition, the PCC is required to approve the Force's budget each year in consultation with the Chief Constable.

- 4.6 This Annual Governance Statement provides a summary of the extent to which the Force meets the seven principles of good governance as identified in the revised Delivering Good Governance: Guidance Notes for Policing Bodies in England and Wales (2016).
- 4.7 While the concepts of good governance are acknowledged and understood, the appropriate day-to-day processes must be in place to allow this to happen. These are detailed in the following sections structured around the seven principles.

5. Overview of HMICFRS PEEL inspection findings and our response

5.1 In 2022 the Force underwent their 2021-22 round of the PEEL inspection. This assessed the Force's performance against 11 areas of policing with graded judgements provided for 10 of these areas as follows (the service that Cleveland Police gives to victims of crime was also inspected but not graded):

- Recording data about crime (Good)
- Engaging with and treating the public with fairness and respect (Adequate)
- Preventing crime and antisocial behaviour (Inadequate)
- Responding to the public (Adequate)
- Investigating crime (Requires improvement)
- Protecting vulnerable people (Requires improvement)
- Managing offenders and suspects (Adequate)
- Disrupting serious organised crime (Adequate)
- Building, supporting and protecting the workforce (Requires improvement)
- Strategic planning, organisational management and value for money (Inadequate)

5.2 Although significant improvements were observed following the 2019 inspection, HMICFRS identified two ongoing areas of concern in the areas of preventing crime and anti-social behaviour; and strategic planning, organisational management and value for money, and the Force remained in the 'engaged' phase of HMICFRS monitoring with regular performance scrutiny via the Police Performance and Oversight Group (PPOG). When the report for this inspection was published in March 2023 the Force had already made good progress against these; including having a substantive Chief Officer team in place, a Prevention Command set up and revised operating model to include stronger focus on neighbourhood policing. In August 2023, the Force presented their current position and progress made in these two areas to them and in September presented to PPOG and they concluded that they could remove Cleveland Police from Engage because it had made several improvements, including:

- improving the co-ordination of prevention activity with the aim of reducing crime and anti-social behaviour;
- making better use of problem-solving techniques to make communities safer and reduce the Force's demand;

- better understanding of demand through comprehensive demand analysis; and
- fully coordinating financial and workforce plans to make sure resources are aligned to Force priorities.

Since September 2023, the Force has continued with improvement plans in all of the Performance Assessment Framework (PAF) areas and is on track for the remaining AFIs to be concluded prior to the next round (2023-25) of PEEL inspection commencing in summer 2024.

- 5.3 Governance and scrutiny arrangements associated with HMICFRS activity are the responsibility of the Deputy Chief Constable led GAIN (Governance of Audit and Inspection) Board. This board meets monthly and has responsibility for ensuring that the Force meets the standards of 'good' outlined in the HMICFRS PAF and responds effectively to areas for improvement arising from previous inspection activity. All areas of the PAF have a designated owner at Chief Officer team level and a nominated delivery lead.

Structure of the AGS

The following sections of the Annual Governance Statement are structured around the seven principles outline in the CIPFA guide and provides evidence that the behaviours described within the seven Nolan principles are met by the Force. Each section contains a summary of the expected behaviours (shown within a box) followed by the supporting evidence.

6. Principle A – behaving with integrity, demonstrating strong commitment to ethical values, and respecting the rule of law

6.1 The Force adopts the same values as laid out in the College of Policing Competency and Values Framework (CVF). The values of courage, respect and empathy, and public service, are used, along with the Code of Ethics, to underpin our working practices and decision making. The College of Policing released a new CVF in May 2024, which will be adopted by forces, to align with the new Code of Ethics. The CVF and the associated behaviours continue to form part of all selection, promotion and performance review processes.

Behaving with integrity Expected behaviours and outcomes
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Ensuring that chief officers and staff behave with integrity and lead a culture where acting in the public interest is visibly and consistently demonstrated thereby promoting and upholding the reputation of the Force among its stakeholders. • Ensuring chief officers lead in establishing specific standard operating principles or values for their forces and staff and that they are communicated and understood. The values should build on the Nolan Principles and the Code of Ethics. • Leading by example and using above standard operating principles or values as a framework for decision making and other actions. • Demonstrating, communicating and embedding the standard operating principles or values through appropriate policies and processes which are reviewed on a regular basis to ensure that they are operating effectively.

6.2 Police officers and police staff are subject to a Code of Conduct and the Code of Ethics and are required to abide by the seven principles of public life (Nolan principles).

6.3 The Code of Ethics produced by the College of Policing was updated and launched in January 2024, replacing the previous 2014 Code. It sets out the values and standards of professional behaviour for the police service of England and Wales, through its three core documents; the Code of Practice for Ethical Policing, Ethical Policing Principles, and the Guidance for Ethical and Professional Behaviour in Policing, ensuring that we do the right things, in the right way, for the right reasons. The Force has been provided with seven training modules by the College of Policing, focused on introducing ethical scenarios to encourage all officers and staff to consider how, and why, they would act. The modules include an in-classroom session with a facilitator who will guide participants through several scenarios, exploring the ethics in how they would navigate and act in these situations. This training is mandatory for all within the Force and a delivery plan is underway to achieve this. The Code of Ethics is at the heart of all we do and is a golden thread throughout our policing strategy and decision making. A comprehensive approach to service improvement seeks to understand organisational behaviour and embed the Code of Ethics in the Force through training, PDR and day to day business.

- 6.4 Following an inspection in November 2022 into the effectiveness of the Forces Counter Corruption and Vetting unit, HMICFRS published a report of their findings in June 2023, rating the department as adequate. The report highlighted the Vetting unit required improvements in understanding which roles within the Force required enhanced levels of vetting including levels of vetting for non-police personal, understanding disproportionality, having sufficient levels of staffing to meet demand and effective use of mitigation strategies where vetting holders are subject of adverse information. During a review of 40 case files, the HMICFRS overall agreed with the decision making conducted. The report highlighted several areas of good practice by the CCU, praising its approach to managing the risk of corruption, sexual misconduct, financial risk and ability to audit Police systems. Following the consolidation of the CCU and Vetting units, several streams of work and initiatives have been introduced to improve effectiveness and performance with additional training and the use of robotic automation as part of the research function in gathering information from various systems to enable staff to focus on decision making, reducing processing time to ensure the Force is competitive. Non-Police vetting applications are now contracted to Warwickshire Police vetting service. A pilot using ACRO vetting research service has led to adoption as business as usual.
- 6.5 There are now a number of staff within the organisation who have volunteered and trained to become 'Discipline Peer Support' officers. This is an extra level of independent, confidential support offered to every member of staff who are under investigation for Gross Misconduct. The role compliments the support offered by welfare and staff associations and was introduced by the DSE department who manage the process. A complaint and conduct scrutiny panel has recently been formed. They are members of the public from varying backgrounds who will dip sample our complaint and conduct investigations with a view to providing an independent view and scrutiny. While the panel will have no influence on outcomes, it is hoped learning will be identified as a result of this oversight. The role of the Ethics Sergeant has been expanded to include the Prevent Team, who continue to focus on identifying trends, lessons learned and intervention. The amalgamation of the roles assists with the embedding of the new code of ethics.
- 6.6 The Force has an Ethic and Standards Board which provides strategic oversight, monitoring and scrutiny of the standards of ethical and professional behaviour. In addition, the internal and external ethics committees provide both inclusivity and scrutiny for ethical behaviour within Cleveland Police. Ethical dilemmas are discussed regularly to calibrate ethical behaviours, and to assist in navigating areas of ethical uncertainty. Ethical dilemmas can be referred from various sources including DSE (Department of Standards and Ethics), digital forums, human resources, and from all officers and staff. They are sent to the Operational Ethics Lead through a bespoke referral mechanism and assessed. All internal tier 1 meeting board agendas have an ethical reminder to promote ethical matters to be raised through such mechanisms. The Board continues to be a hub for lessons learnt and in the 12 months to March 2024, saw a total of 21 items brought to the attention of the Operational Ethics lead. A number of items were answered at source with 17 discussed between the Independent Ethics Committee co-ordinated by the Office of the Police and Crime Commissioner (OPCC), internal ethics advocates and the Ethics and Standards Group. The items raised and discussed have contributed to organisational learning and development of Force policies (including Right Care Right Person).

- 6.7 The NDM is used across the Force to support the use of greater discretion and encourages decision makers to follow an easy to use, consistent and robust process which has the vision and values of the Force, and the Code of Ethics, at its heart. The Model can be used to support both operational and non-operational decisions, no matter how complex and it can be used by both police officers and staff alike in their professional roles. Training for all officers and staff on the NDM incorporates the Code of Ethics as running through the decision-making process.
- 6.8 The Force has a Counter Fraud and Corruption Policy which provides a standardised approach to minimising fraud and corruption. This policy was updated in July 2022 in line with identified best practice in other forces.
- 6.9 The Force cooperates with the National Fraud Initiative (NFI) and submits the required data every two years. The NFI is an exercise that matches electronic data within and between public and private sector bodies to prevent and detect fraud.

Demonstrating strong commitment to ethical values
Expected behaviours and outcomes
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Seeking to understand, monitor and maintain the Force’s ethical performance. Underpinning personal behaviour with ethical values and ensuring they permeate all aspects of the Force’s culture and operation. Developing and maintaining robust policies and procedures which place emphasis on agreed ethical values. Ensuring that external providers of services on behalf of the Force are required to act with integrity and in compliance with ethical standards expected by the Force.

- 6.10 The Ethics and Standards Group is chaired by the Superintendent of the Directorate and Standards and Ethics Department and facilitated by the Operational Ethics lead Sergeant. The Board reports directly to the Strategic Workforce Planning Group, chaired by the DCC. The Board consists of representations from HR, Legal, EDI, OPCC, representative bodies (Federation, UNISON and Superintendents Association), internal ethics committee chair, independent scrutiny (Independent Ethics Committee chair and Audit Committee), Corporate Services and Learning and Development. The Board has agreed to expand its membership to include appropriate persons from operational and investigatory departments to widen the impact of the Board, as well provide greater opportunity for matters to feed into the Board for review.
- 6.11 The Force also has internal ethics members (Ethics Advocates) who compliment the Ethics and Standards Group, and the OPCC facilitated Independent Ethics Committee. The internal ethics committee members have a voluntary lead, and members support the ethical discussion generated by the Ethics and Standards Group. The committee has a dedicated intranet site which promotes the work of the group and identifies the members so that officers and staff can easily access advice and guidance on ethical issues. This site and the associated Code of Ethics site are regularly updated so as to be relevant and contemporary. Coinciding with the launch of the new Code of Ethics in January 2024, the Force's internal Code of Ethics site has all the College of Policing products and signposting, as well as the various resources, initiatives and complimentary work related to ethics produced internally. The Ethics Advocates membership remains healthy and varied, with over sixty members representing nearly thirty different departments and teams. The internal members have discussed a wide range of issues, both in person at meetings, online in digital meetings, or electronically to respond to ethical dilemmas and discussions. The Ethics Advocates are provided training and support to assist in their development and effectiveness.

- 6.12 The external Independent Ethics Committee increases the transparency and accountability of decision makers and enriches the decision-making process. The Committee is made up of members from ever increasing and diverse backgrounds across the communities the Force serves; this is facilitated in partnership with the OPCC. The group are proactive in recruitment and diversity, identifying a member of the youth panel who was capable of diversifying the Independent Ethics Committee and recruited them into the Committee. The Committee discusses specific questions that have been sent for their consideration, as well as identifying their own discussion points which the Force welcomes. The Committee has been facilitated through the use of a digital meeting platform combined with face to face meetings, and a hybrid of both. The group has met six times since March 2023 and discussed 11 ethical dilemmas, as well as other topics such as the Code of Ethics and the review of Force policy and guidance (including Right Care Right Person). The OPCC also facilitates the Youth Commission, which works with a local charity to identify local youths who will meet and provide a perspective on ethical matters. The Youth Commission have met twice in the reporting period to discuss the ethical ramifications of how police deal with drugs in society, and how the police manage balancing free speech and hate.
- 6.13 The three forums utilise a referral mechanism between one another facilitated by the Operational Ethics Lead. Items which are discussed are posted onto the internal Code of Ethics site and minutes of the Independent Ethics Committee meetings are listed on the OPCC website for public consumption.
- 6.14 The People Intelligence Board (PIB) operates as a strategic and organisational forum which was established to monitor individual cases of concern with the aim of developing individual supportive interventions. The Board is now chaired and owned by the Head of Directorate of Standards and Ethics. On a monthly basis the PIB looks at organisational trends and risks relating to a range of people issues that would otherwise be dealt with in isolation; combining subject matter expertise from HR, Wellbeing, Legal Services, Standards and Ethics and heads of command. The aim is to identify lessons learned leading to organisational change to ensure high standards of conduct and professional behaviour across the Force. This covers a range of information including sickness, grievances, serious conduct matters and public complaints, IOPC referrals, business interests, notifiable associations, civil claims, high risk welfare and capability issues. The PIB aims to draw upon subject matter expertise to minimise risk and provide a co-ordinated and timely problem-solving approach to items brought to the Board.

- 6.15 The PIB has led to several preventive interventions with officers and staff subject of intelligence of alleged unethical behaviour or diversion into the various problem-solving processes within the CCU, such as Operation Beacon. Where intervention have not led to conduct improvements, the interventions have been used as evidence to exit several officers and staff from the organisation through Gross Misconduct proceedings or vetting.
- 6.16 In May 2023, the Force conducted an initial historical data wash (HDW) as part of policing’s largest integrity screening project. The process retrieved the associated records from the Police National database (PND), assessing and developing any previously unknown intelligence. It generated over 1400 lines of data to review; and the assessments did not lead to any criminal or conduct proceedings. The Force then moved into driving the national pilot of Continuous Integrity Screen (CIS) and the procurement of a case management system. CIS requires Cleveland Police to resubmit details of all police officers and police staff through PND monthly, to retrieve any new PND entries that have been recorded since the last the ‘wash’. This project is on-going and to date no criminal or conduct allegations have been identified.
- 6.17 Initial induction training for police officers and staff covers professional conduct, the Code of Ethics, the NDM, and the Force values and the CVF. The Code of Ethics and the NDM are revisited regularly over the course of the three-year PCDA.

Respecting the rule of law Expected behaviours and outcomes
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Ensuring the PCC, chief officers and staff demonstrate a strong commitment to the rule of law as well as adhering to relevant laws and regulations. • Creating the conditions to ensure that statutory chief officers, other key post holders and (where appropriate) statutory committees are able to fulfil their responsibilities in accordance with best practice. • Striving to use full powers for the benefit of citizens, communities and other stakeholders. • Dealing with breaches of legal and regulatory provisions effectively. • Ensuring corruption and misuse of power are dealt with effectively.

- 6.18 The Force has a Reporting Professional Standards Concerns and Protected Disclosure Policy (published in April 2022) that provides a mechanism that complies with legislative requirements and enables staff to raise issues of concern regarding wrongdoing and inappropriate conduct and behaviour within the workplace (“whistle blowing”). The policy is considered integral to creating a safe environment in which staff at all levels feel a genuine obligation to maintain the integrity of the police service and have the confidence to support the Force in maintaining the Standards of Professional Behaviour and the Code of Ethics.
- 6.19 As public sector organisations Cleveland Police and the Office of the Police and Crime Commissioner (OPCC) are subject to the Equality Act 2010’s general equality duty. This means the organisations are required to actively consider opportunities to eliminate discrimination, advance equality of opportunity, and foster good relations when making decisions. To demonstrate commitment to the duties the Force has continued to progress the Equality, Diversity and Inclusion (EDI) 2020-2025 Strategy.

This strategy has three strategic outcomes:

- Our People & Organisation: Create a working environment that is supportive and inclusive of all, enabling officers and staff to develop, feel supported and able to be themselves at work.
- Our Communities: Deliver policing services that are accessible, responsive and needs-led to ensure services meet the requirements of all our communities.
- Our Partners: Partners have confidence that Cleveland can have effective joint service delivery underpinned by equality and inclusion through improved opportunities for collaborative working.

The Force embeds equality duty compliance and delivery of the strategy through several organisational mechanisms. These mechanisms are in place to ensure positive outcomes for both the workforce and members of the public accessing services.

The Force has complied with statutory reporting requirements, completing and publishing Gender Pay Gap and Annual Equality Monitoring Reports, alongside ensuring up to date Public Sector Equality Duty objectives are in place for the 3 years ahead. This information is available for the public on the Force website and can be supplied in alternative and accessible formats if requested.

The Force is currently at Disability Confident Level 2 as an employer of choice and is on track to achieve Disability Confident Leader Level 3 in 2024.

The equality impact assessment model established in 2020 has continued to be embedded into Force decision making processes for policies, strategies and services. The EDI team have continued to update the model and are iteratively improving the tools, guidance and resources available for the workforce to impact assess their work. 47 impact assessments were completed in the 2023-24 period, leading the Force having a total of 165 EIAs deployed to date to assure outcomes for the workforce and community.

6.20 There are nine Cleveland Police Staff Networks:

- Armed Forces Network
- Carers Network
- Christian Police Association
- Cleveland Police Women's Network
- Disability Support Network
- LGBT+ Network
- Neurodiversity Network
- Race Equality Network
- Vegan Network

The networks bring together individuals who share common experiences, interests, or backgrounds, creating spaces where diverse perspectives are celebrated and respected. The networks have delivered a range of activities for their members and the wider workforce to improve inclusion, wellbeing and organisational decision making in the 2023-24 period. The Armed Forces Network has further supported the Force to progress the Defence Employer Recognition Scheme (ERS) to achieve the Silver Employer Award which demonstrates that the Force is continuing to develop as an effective advocate and supporter to the armed forces community and aligned values with the Armed Forces Covenant. In 2024 the network is embarking on achieving the Gold Award.

- 6.21 The Force continues to performance manage powers and services that are critical to legitimacy, with a bi-monthly performance meeting for both Stop and Search and Use of Force monitoring data quality, compliance, and disproportionality. This is supported by a bi-monthly external scrutiny panel and a bi-monthly internal review. An external scrutiny panel for RASSO will commence from June 2024. The external scrutiny panel comprises of independent members of the public reviewing stop search reports and use of force reports and viewing associated body worn video footage. The internal review comprises of an audit of stop search compliance against grounds and powers. Feedback is given to individuals (and line managers) for every incident reviewed and back into the Force through an organisational learning document and input into the IMPACT Board. Activity continues ensure our treatment of and outcomes for detained people are improved. A robust performance management framework has been created and internal review work has been undertaken to assure this is driving the required progress. Strategic oversight of this is maintained through ACC led governance.
- 6.22 The Force continues to drive improvements in the recording of ethnicity data to enable us to fully understand the communities' we police, provide the best service to our victims, treat all we interact with fairness and respect and deal with any disparity we identify. Both the Police Race Action Plan and the Baroness Casey Review emphasise the importance of victim-centred approaches in areas such as Rape, Serious Sexual Assault and Exploitation, for black and ethnic minority people. Our improvements are part of a long-term programme to improve data integrity and the understanding of our communities so together we can continue to protect people. These improvements are monitored by both the Digital Data and Change Board and the IMPACT Board.
- 6.23 The Force and the OPCC have a number of platforms where the Force can explore community feedback. These groups are integral to creating feedback that enables the Force, OPCC and HMICFRS to be assured that the community are being treated fairly, appropriately and respectfully. Transparently engaging diverse communities in scrutiny of powers and processes that are critical to legitimacy is an essential part of the Force demonstrating commitment to our public sector equality duties. The groups who have provided feedback and scrutiny in this reporting period include:
- Cleveland Youth Commission
 - Complaints Scrutiny Panel
 - Independent Custody Visitors (ICVs)
 - Independent Ethics Committee (IEC)
 - Joint Audit Committee
 - Local Independent Advisory Groups (one for each local policing area) (IAGs)
 - Out of Court Disposals (OOCD) Panel
 - Stop and Search Panels
 - Strategic Independent Advisory Group (SIAG)

- 6.24 The Force is continuously improving its approach to learning and training needs assessments to inform learning and training experiences for the workforce. EDI and inclusive leadership learning experiences in this period have been embedded into the Force’s Leadership Development Programme, with core EDI competencies and cultural competencies embedded into this, wider programmes of learning in master classes, lunch & learns and key celebration dates (e.g. the Force-wide programme celebrating Black History Month, International Day of Persons with Disabilities (IDPD), and International Women’s Day (IWD)).
- 6.25 The Force has a Director of Finance and Assets in post who is the statutory ‘Section 151’ Officer for the Force. The Force’s Director of Finance and Assets works closely with the Chief Finance Officer of the PCC ensuring an effective, cooperative and constructive relationship, and complies with the CIPFA statement on The Role of the CFO in Policing (2021).
- 6.26 In 2023 the Force joined the CIPFA Achieving Excellence in Finance in Policing (AFEP) network. This national network promotes the sharing of best practice between Forces and provides training opportunities with the aim of improving financial management in the sector.
- 6.27 The progress and performance of standards and ethics continue to be monitored through the embedded governance and performance structures. The Police Complaint and Misconduct Regulations 2020 are now fully embedded throughout the Force, and the ‘Model 3’ in partnership with the OPCC is also embedded. A Service Level Agreement is in place which aims to ensure Public Confidence is a priority. The implementation of The Police (Conduct) (Amendment) Regulations 2024 is underway; dedicated chair training has been delivered by the College of Policing to members of the Chief Officer team and training has been delivered internally to police officers and police staff within DSE.
- 6.28 The Joint Independent Audit Committee receives reports on complaints against police on a six-monthly basis, along with examples of ‘lessons learnt’ that have been circulated across the Force.

7. Principle B – Ensuring openness and comprehensive stakeholder engagement

Openness
Expected behaviours and outcomes
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Ensuring an open culture through demonstrating, documenting and communicating the Force’s commitment to openness. The presumption is for openness. If this is not the case, a justification for the reasoning for keeping a decision confidential should be provided. Making decisions that are open about actions, plans, resource use, forecasts, outputs and outcomes. Providing clear reasoning and evidence for decisions in both public records and explanations to stakeholders and being explicit about the criteria, rationale and considerations used. In due course, ensuring that the impact and consequences of those decisions is clear.

- Using formal and informal consultation and engagement to determine the most appropriate and effective interventions/courses of action.

- 7.1 Public confidence is measured via the Crime Survey for England and Wales (CSEW), a national survey commissioned by the Home Office, conducted via face to face interviews. Although this information stream was halted during COVID due to methodological changes, Force level information is now available once again and is our primary source of data which allows us to track and monitor levels of public confidence amongst local communities.
- 7.2 In December 2020, the Force introduced a public engagement survey. Known as the ‘Communities Survey’ the aim of this survey is to reach out to our local communities and ask them to provide structured feedback in relation to what it is like to live in their local area, what they feel our priorities should be and whether they have trust and confidence in the services we currently provide. Many of the questions replicate those used in our previous Local Public Confidence Survey, and the CSEW. Despite offering residents the opportunity to complete the survey online, via a postal questionnaire and in seven different languages, we have been unable to generate the number of responses required to provide us with statistically valid breakdown at a local policing level. In 2023 the Communities Survey was put on hold pending a review of our Public Engagement Strategy. At this time there are no plans to reintroduce this force-wide survey with more localised surveys being conducted by our neighbourhood policing teams instead.
- 7.3 The Force aims to place victims at the centre of everything that we do, achieving a high level of victim satisfaction is therefore a key performance outcome. Victim satisfaction is measured via a telephone based ‘Victim Experience Survey’ which has been in operation since May 2021. Over the past year around 1500 victims were interviewed and we have achieved a response rate of 17%. The results obtained via this survey are generally positive indicating an overall satisfaction level of around 75%, a 5% point improvement on the previous year. There are however still some areas for improvements, particularly in relation to follow up and feedback. With a marginal decline on the previous year, this continues to be the service aspect with the lowest level of satisfaction.
- 7.4 All public authorities are required to provide a publication scheme. The Cleveland Police Publication Scheme, which is available through the Force website, is our way of making sure that information relating to specified 'information classes', is routinely published. In addition to the information that falls into these categories, the scheme also includes information that we have disclosed in response to freedom of information (FOI) requests.

Engaging comprehensively with institutional stakeholders
Expected behaviours and outcomes

- Effectively engaging with institutional stakeholders to ensure that the purpose, objectives and intended outcomes for each stakeholder relationship are clear so that outcomes are achieved successfully and sustainably.

- Developing formal and informal partnerships to allow for resources to be used more efficiently and outcomes achieved more effectively.
- Ensuring that partnerships, including collaborations, are based on trust, a shared commitment to change, and a culture which promotes and accepts challenge among partners and that the added value of partnership working is explicit.

7.5 The Force has an Engagement Strategy (approved in May 2024) informed by best practice and a local community engagement survey. To support the delivery of the strategy a framework has been developed under the five pillars of Informing, Involving, Consulting, Collaborating and Empowering. A refined process is in place to identify and communicate local priorities and provide updates on progress and outcomes, with technological solutions being developed to support that process.

7.6 Within Cleveland there are four geographic Independent Advisory Groups (IAG) covering each local authority area, and a Strategic IAG (SIAG) bringing together representatives from the geographic IAGs, including senior police officers and staff, and the PCC, to discuss strategic issues that affect the whole of the Cleveland policing area. Volunteers have been recruited to assist in the administration of local IAGs.

Work has been undertaken to increase the diversity of SIAG members. A workshop ran by the NAIAG, was attended by SIAG Members, Chief Inspectors and the Deputy Chief Constable and there are plans underway to hold a conference in 2024. A Cleveland Youth Commission was established in July 2020, and in 2022 became a Youth Advisory Group led by the Junction Foundation who received a grant fund to provide this service.

7.7 The Force is party to 25 collaborative agreements; 10 national; 5 regional, 3 with NE ROCU and 7 with other police forces to increase resilience and effectiveness and reduce costs, with Section 22A agreements in place defining the governance arrangements and funding formulas.

7.8 Following the Force's withdrawal from the Cleveland and Durham Special Operations Unit (CDSOU) collaboration, the Matrix Team was implemented in January 2024 incorporating a number of key functions including armed policing, roads policing, dog unit, emergency and operational planning and the Tactical Disruption Unit (TDU). The department is overseen by the ACC led Specialist Capabilities group meeting every six months. The Collision Investigation Unit (CIU) and firearms and taser training (provided through the shared Tactical Training Centre) continue to be part of a S22 collaboration with Durham Constabulary overseen through the strategic Joint Operating Group.

7.9 Considerable progress has been made on the Evolve collaboration programme between Cleveland Police, Durham Constabulary and North Yorkshire Police; looking at where working together can improve services to communities and reduce operating costs. As part of the Evolve programme, the police and crime commissioners and forces have a fully collaborated Legal Service which has resulted in restructuring of teams across all three forces. The Service was launched in February 2020 within the three forces and work continues to drive forwards its effectiveness and realise further efficiencies. The service has delivered legal services across all three forces but continues to focus on local delivery to Chief Constables and has provided depth and breadth of expertise in core service areas having built resilience in respect of increasing and complex demand under the current structure and model. Evolve Legal Services is continuing its alignment phase to embed the structure and practices following recent review of the operating model at the end of 2023 and anticipates further efficiencies from this. The service supports the national Association of Police Lawyers, NERSOU, and other regional collaborations. The service is working towards LEXCEL accreditation in late 2024/early 2025.

- 7.10 The North East Regional Organised Crime Unit (NEROCU) provides specialist capabilities to tackle Serious & Organised Crime (SOC), in support of Northumbria, Durham and Cleveland Police forces. The delivery of capabilities is in line with the national strategy for Regional Organised Crime Units (ROCU) and offers additional or specialist capabilities to that which exists in forces. The unit operates within a regional tasking model which prioritises these capabilities based on threat, harm and risk, using nationally recognised models for the assessment of such.
- 7.11 The Force is also part of a national collaboration for the provision of air support, the National Police Air Service (NPAS).

Engaging with individual citizens and service users
Expected behaviours and outcomes
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Establishing a clear policy about the type of issues on which the Force will meaningfully consult with, or involve, individual communities, citizens, service users and other stakeholders to ensure that a service provision is contributing towards the achievement of intended outcomes. Ensuring that communication methods are effective and that the PCC and officers are clear about their roles with regard to community engagement. Encouraging, collecting and evaluating the views and experiences of communities, citizens, service users and organisations of different backgrounds including reference to future needs. Implementing effective feedback mechanisms for those consultees in order to demonstrate how their views have been taken into account. Balancing feedback from more active stakeholder groups with other stakeholder groups to ensure inclusivity. Taking account of the interests of future generations of taxpayers and service users.

- 7.12 There is regular communication between the Office of the Police and Crime Commissioner and Cleveland Police, with the Chief Constable meeting the PCC on a regular basis to update on current issues. In addition, the PCC Chief Finance Officer and the CC Director of Finance and Assets also meet on a weekly basis.
- 7.13 The Chief Constable has regular meetings with two of the local authority Chief Executives, and the Chief Crown Prosecutor. Meetings are held with the remaining two local authority Chief Executives on an ad hoc basis. The Chief Officer team also meet with Cleveland Fire Brigade Chief Officer team on a quarterly basis. In addition, the Force works in partnership with the local authorities, and other stakeholders, e.g. health, education and social care on a range of issues, for example: multi-agency children’s hub, community safety partnerships, local safeguarding boards, health and wellbeing boards, youth offending boards and the strategic contest delivery group. This is not an exhaustive list.

8. Principle C – Defining outcomes in terms of sustainable economic, social and environmental benefits

Defining outcomes
Expected behaviours and outcomes
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Having a clear vision – an agreed formal statement of the Force’s purpose and intended outcomes containing appropriate performance indicators which provides the basis for the Force’s overall strategy, planning and other decisions. • Specifying the intended impact on, or changes for, stakeholders including individual citizens and service users. It could be immediately or over the course of a year or longer. • Delivering defined outcomes on a sustainable basis within the resources that will be available, while recognising that changing and unforeseen demands will place additional pressure on financial resources. • Identifying and managing risks to the achievement of outcomes as part of delivering goods and services. • Managing expectations effectively with regard to determining priorities and making the best use of the resources available.

8.1 The Force has a clear vision to deliver outstanding policing for our communities. The mission of the Force is:

- Protect People
- Protect Communities
- Tackle Criminals
- Be The Best We Can Be

8.2 The vision and values are supported by a performance management strategy and performance measurement framework that has been developed in line with NPCC guidelines. The performance framework is outcome driven and has been built around Chiefs mission and four strategic priorities. Within the framework we have identified a number of key performance outcomes which we are able to track and monitor using a wide range of quantifiable performance indicators alongside additional qualitative evidence and insight. Through our analysis of this data, we will be able to evidence the progress we have made and identify where further improvements are still required. During the past year, our performance framework and associated governance structure has been subject to further development and refinement to ensure alignment with the Chief Constables Mission and revised Force operating model. The IMPACT (Improving and Managing Performance Across Cleveland Together) performance framework continues to inform our performance conversations at both the strategic and tactical level. This can be seen through our monthly Force IMPACT Board meeting (see section 9.5) and associated thematic governance groups. To support the IMPACT framework, we have continued to develop a range of new and revised performance products and automated tools. Our IMPACT performance dashboard is now fully operational, providing the quarterly Executive Management Board with a high-level organisational health check across key victim services.

- 8.3 A key enabler for delivery of the Force vision has been the development of a sustainable local policing model that can effectively respond to threat, harm and risk. This model has been refined to respond to the areas for improvement identified by HMICFRS, the threats identified in our Strategic Threat & Risk Assessment (STRA), risk areas identified through the FMS; and a programme of refreshed demand modelling, improving our ability to understand demand, by the demand analysis team. An annual plan is developed which includes the ongoing maintenance of those demand models already created and the development of further models for business areas which have been highlighted as a risk through the Force Management Statement process. The prioritisation and delivery of the annual plan is overseen by the Strategic Workforce Planning Board. The STRA is published every two years, following approval through the Executive Management Board. The next STRA is due for completion in 2024-25.
- 8.4 The Long Term Financial Plan (LTFP) 2024-25 to 2027-28 and Capital Plan 2024-25 to 2027-28 were agreed with the PCC in February 2024. The Force produces monthly reports on progress against the plan which are reviewed by the Executive Management Board and discussed with the PCCs Chief Finance Officer.
- 8.5 A significant effort has been put into ensuring the completeness of both revenue and capital rolling equipment replacement programmes to: ensure funding is available when necessary; avoid spikes in expenditure by smoothing the replacement profile; inform the procurement plan to ensure timely ordering and receipt of equipment, and inform prioritisation and decision making.

Sustainable economic, social and environmental benefits

Expected behaviours and outcomes

- Considering and balancing the combined economic, social and environmental impact of policies, plans and decisions when taking decisions about services.
- Taking a longer-term view with regard to decision making, taking account of risk and acting transparently where there are potential conflicts between the PCC and the chief officer's intended outcomes and short term factors such as the political cycle or financial constraints
- Ensuring fair access to services.

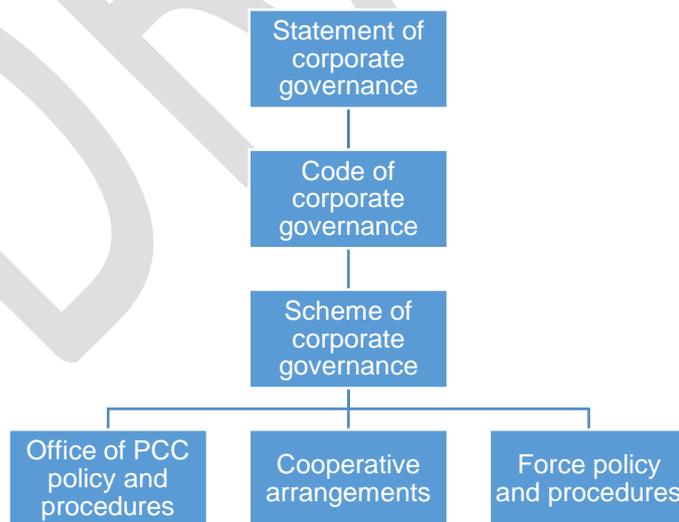

- 8.6 The Force has continued to improve processes around capital planning and change management to ensure clarity and understanding of change requests and the timeliness of decision making. The Business Case Triage Group continues to operate and improve the collective discussions prior to any formal decision making on the approval of requests for change that may impact on service delivery and helping to manage expectations around delivery of such change. Recent changes have seen the introduction of a review by Information Management colleagues at an earlier stage, to streamline the process and identify Information Security risks at the outset of the approval process.

8.7 The Digital, Data and Change Board, chaired by the Director of Finance and Assets, meets on a monthly basis to drive delivery of the Force change and innovation programme ensuring that projects are prioritised, resourced and delivered in order to achieve the best outcomes in line with overall Force objectives.

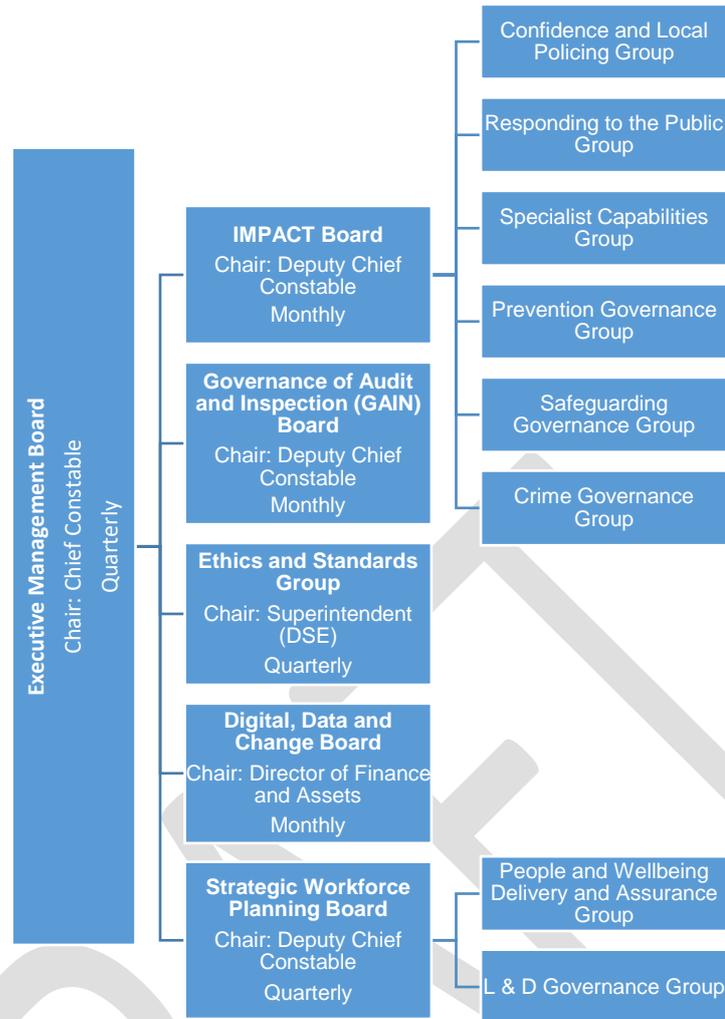

9. Principle D – Determining the interventions necessary to optimise the achievement of the intended outcomes

Determining interventions
Expected behaviours and outcomes
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Ensuring that decision makers receive objective and rigorous analysis of a variety of options indicating how intended outcomes would be achieved and including the risks associated with those options. Therefore, ensuring that best value is achieved however services are provided. Considering feedback from citizens and service users when making decisions about service improvements, or where services are no longer required, in order to prioritise competing demands within limited resources available including people, skills, land and assets, and bearing in mind future impacts

9.1 The Force has a joint corporate governance framework with the Police and Crime Commissioner (PCC) for Cleveland. The framework sets out the way that the two organisations, the Police and Crime Commissioner and the Chief Constable, govern, both jointly and separately. The framework also details the delegations and consents from the PCC to the Force and outlines the specific roles and responsibilities of officers. The framework, outlined below, is reviewed and amended as necessary on an annual basis.

9.2 The Force has a structured meeting framework to ensure accountability and provide clarity over levels of decision making and responsibility. The framework, headed by the Executive Management Board as the key driver of the Force, is supported by a number of key strategic and tactical delivery and assurance forums. In summary the framework is as shown below.

9.3 Following a review in early 2023, the framework continues to be embedded with the IMPACT Board providing a more holistic review and management of performance and the Strategic Workforce Planning Board, and Digital, Data and Change Board ensuring that governance of Force decisions is monitored. These changes will be enhanced by further changes to the framework during 2024-25.

Planning interventions
Expected behaviours and outcomes
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Establishing and implementing robust planning and control cycles that cover strategic and operational plans, priorities and targets. Engaging with internal and external stakeholders in determining how services and other courses of action should be planned and delivered. Considering and monitoring risks facing each partner when working collaboratively, including shared risks. Ensuring arrangements are flexible and agile so that the mechanisms for delivering outputs can be adapted to changing circumstances. Establishing appropriate performance measures as part of the planning process in order to assess and inform how the performance of the services and projects is to be measured. Ensuring capacity exists to generate the information required to review service quality regularly.

- Preparing budgets in accordance with government funding announcements, Force objectives, strategies and the medium term financial plan.
- Informing medium and long term resource planning by drawing up realistic estimates of revenue and capital expenditure, together with estimates of grant, precept, and other income streams, aimed at developing a sustainable funding strategy.

- 9.4 The Force has developed a strategic planning cycle that links with the production of the Force Management Statement (FMS) demanded by HMICFRS. The cycle for FMS6 has been completed and forms the basis for the corporate plan identifying the change to be delivered during the coming year to achieve the priorities outlined above.
- 9.5 The Force undertakes a detailed monthly performance assessment which reviews current performance against our strategic policing priorities. The reporting mechanisms associated with this work have been designed to facilitate a conversation which examines and challenges performance and supports the decision-making process. The results of the performance assessment are presented at the monthly performance 'IMPACT' day, where senior leaders from across the organisation will discuss, debate and problem solve any current or emerging 'performance threats'.
- 9.6 The Force has a current Digital Strategy which provides four strategic priorities which then translate into delivery plans and are synchronised with the Force's change workstreams. A review of the National Digital Policing Strategy is underway by the Police Digital Service (PDS). The Force (Head of ICT) is engaged in the review via the National Police Technology Council (NPTC) to assist and advise on the strategy refresh. Once the national review is complete, a review of the Force Digital Strategy will be completed to ensure continued alignment with the revised national strategy, the local Cleveland Police mission, and the PCC's police and crime plan.
- 9.7 The Force takes an integrated approach to medium- to long-term strategic workforce planning. The strategic workforce planning process is aligned with financial planning and business planning (FMS) to ensure there is an integrated approach to delivering the Force strategic objectives. The strategic workforce plan informs tactical resource planning and operational resource deployment, to match skills and resources to requirements. Workforce planning continues to increase in complexity, given the increased number of police officer entry routes and ongoing national changes to optimise the entry routes and continually raise standards. The plan also sets out promotional programme timelines for officers, which informs tactical and operational resource planning, matching resources and skills to operational requirements.
- 9.8 The plan focuses on the next three years to ensure the Force has sufficient resources with the required skills to deliver day to day and strategic priorities. The number of staff employed by the Force continued to grow in line with our workforce plans; with increased numbers of police officers through delivery of the final year three of the national Uplift programme and additional officer 'uplift' due to the Force being successful in all available bids for additional Home Office funding. In addition ongoing recruitment into police staff vacancies has continued.
- 9.9 Based on Force and national evidence based trend data, additional focus is on retention of existing staff and officers, with particular focus on student officers, and positive action to attract a more diverse range of recruits, and talent into identified hard to fill roles.

- 9.10 The Force has a five year detailed capital programme which is linked to the Estates, ICT and Fleet detailed plans. Each capital scheme requires a detailed business case to be produced and which is scrutinised by the Business Case Triage Group, the Digital Data and Change Board and the Chief Officer team. Each business case is linked to the priorities of the Force and is risk (RAG) rated. This is then scrutinised by the PCC Chief Finance Officer and an annual budget allocation is made.

Optimising achievement of intended outcomes
Expected behaviours and outcomes
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Ensuring the medium term financial strategy integrates and trades off service priorities, affordability, and other resource constraints. • Ensuring that the budgeting process is all inclusive, taking into account the full cost of operations over the medium and longer term. • Ensuring the medium term financial strategy sets the context for ongoing decisions on significant delivery issues or responses to changes in the external environment that may arise during the budgetary period in order for the outcomes to be achieved while optimising resource usage. • Ensuring the achievement of 'social value' through service planning and commissioning

- 9.11 We acknowledge the work required by His Majesty's Inspectorate of Constabulary and Fire & Rescue Services to ensure strategic priorities are aligned, and that they are embedded in the strategic, financial and workforce planning. In the 2021-22 PEEL report HMICFRS noted that 'The force presents a balanced financial budget. There is a good level of fiscal management, and the force has sound fiscal awareness'.¹
- 9.12 The LTFP 2024-25 to 2027-28 and Capital Plan 2024-25 to 2027-28 was agreed with the PCC in February 2024, and regular updates are provided to the Chief Officer Team and the Executive Management Board (see 8.4).
- 9.13 The financial planning cycle commences at the beginning of each financial year linked with the Force Management Statement and planning cycles to ensure that incoming demand, changes in anticipated funding and potential gaps are considered and plans developed to fill the gaps or mitigate the risk of not being able to do this.
- 9.14 The Department of Standards and Ethics continues to ensure consistent and appropriate outcomes as evidenced by robust processes and procedures to resolve complaints, conduct, and death and serious injury (DSI) following police contact matters; with clear accountability, responsibility and authority for decision-making within a defined scheme of delegation and governance. The department meets quarterly with the IOPC to discuss performance and referrals. Where any discrepancies are raised, action is taken to understand the issue, review any relevant processes and take necessary steps. This is supported by robust performance scrutiny and internal challenge that ensures high quality investigations and casework leading to the ability to operate in a timely and consistent fashion across all aspects of assessments and casework. The scheme of delegation has been subject of review and due for sign off consideration at the Executive Management Board.

10. Principle E – Developing the entity’s capacity, including the capability of its leadership and the individuals within it

Developing the entity’s capacity Expected behaviours and outcomes
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Reviewing operations, performance and asset management on a regular basis to ensure their continuing effectiveness. • Improving resource use through appropriate application of techniques such as benchmarking and other options in order to determine how policing resources are allocated so that defined outcomes are achieved effectively and efficiently. • Recognising and promoting the benefits of collaborative working where added value can be achieved through partnerships. • Developing and maintaining an effective workforce plan to enhance the strategic allocation of resources.

10.1 The Force now offer multiple entry routes for officers into policing, including the Police Constable Degree Apprenticeship (PCDA), the new Police Constable Entry Programme non degree programme (PCEP), and the Degree Holder Entry Programme (DHEP) with the option for Detective specialism. Transferees are also promoted as this route helps to balance the levels of experience within Force. The Force also encourages applications from those who have already completed a policing qualification elsewhere. Our partnership with Teesside University is integral to the success of the PCDA and DHEP routes. Offering a range of routes allows the Force to work with individuals to progress via the best fit route. Early indications from launching the DHEP route is positive impacts on our gender positive action programme to continually improve our workforce representation.

10.2 The Force positions employee wellbeing as the core workforce priority and takes a strategic approach to optimising wellbeing in a way which promotes our values. The strategic approach to wellbeing is informed by the Blue Light Wellbeing Framework (BLWF), relevant evidenced based trend data; e.g. sickness absence levels, management and self-referrals for services, staff survey outcomes, the Force strategic objectives, identified risks, challenges and horizon scanning trends.

Recruitment and securing third party and in house clinical specialists is an increasing regional and national challenge. The challenges to recruit into the specialist occupational health nurse roles has been addressed through innovative practice to recruit Registered General Nurses and support the individuals to become qualified Occupational Health Nurses.

A range of internal and external services are available to support employee wellbeing including an employee assistance programme.

10.3 The Force recognises the importance of understanding the workforce wellbeing needs and along with the national wellbeing survey the Force also undertakes an annual staff survey. The outcomes from the 2023 survey were built into Executive and command action plans to support and improve wellbeing. These outcomes have informed the refreshed people strategy, policy, resource utilisation, skills and training requirements. In addition, an assessment of the Blue Light Wellbeing Framework is now completed, and analysis has prioritised actions to further develop the Force wellbeing provision.

Demand for wellbeing services has continued to increase year on year primarily due to increased police officer recruitment to deliver the Uplift programme recruitment and increasing trends in mental health support services. Work continues to ensure wellbeing service provision aligns with ongoing changes to the demand mix; through offering a wider range of services and ongoing efficiency improvements to provision of supporting administration.

Developing the capability of the entity’s leadership and other individuals Expected behaviours and outcomes
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Ensuring the PCC and chief officers have clearly defined and distinctive leadership roles within a structure whereby the chief officers lead by implementing strategy and managing the delivery of services and other outputs set by the PCC and/or chief constable, and each provides a check and balance for each other’s responsibility. • Ensuring the PCC, chief officers and staff receive appropriate induction tailored to their role and that ongoing training and development matching individual and organisational requirements is available and encouraged. • Ensuring that the PCC, chief officers and staff have the appropriate skills, knowledge, resources and support to fulfil their roles and responsibilities and ensuring that they are able to update their knowledge on a continuing basis. • Ensuring personal, Force and system-wide development through shared learning, including lessons learnt from governance failures both internal and external. • Taking steps to consider the leadership’s own effectiveness and ensuring leaders are open to constructive feedback from peer review and inspections. • Holding staff to account through regular performance reviews which take account of training or development needs. • Ensuring arrangements are in place to maintain the health and wellbeing of the workforce and support individuals in maintaining their own physical and mental wellbeing.

10.4 We continue to embed the leadership expectation in Cleveland Police for everyone at all levels, supported by the Leadership Prospectus and a Career Development Policy and supporting career pathways. The leadership prospectus has been further developed to embed the College of policing led Police Leadership Programme and associated talent programmes at all levels for all personnel: officers, police staff, special constables and volunteers, to support and enable leadership development, promotion, and progression at all levels within Cleveland Police:

Stage 1 - Foundation level for frontline officers and staff

- Police Constable Entry Routes
- College of Policing Stage 1-3 Fast Track PC to Inspector

Stage 2 - First line leader

- First Line Leader Programme

Stage 3 - Mid-level leaders

- Mid-Level Leader Programme
- College of Policing Stage 3-4. Fast Track Inspector to Superintendent

Stage 4 - Senior leaders

- College of Policing Aspire Leadership Development Programme (Underrepresented groups)
- College of Policing Police leadership programme
- College of Policing Superintendent to Chief Officer Police Executive Leadership Programme
- Cleveland Police Being the Best You Can be Leadership Programme

Stage 5 - Chief officers / Executive leaders

- Cleveland Police Being the Best You Can be Leadership Programme

10.5 All leadership development is aligned to the Values and Behaviours Framework and three pillars:

1. New to Cleveland Police/Role
2. In role leadership development
3. Developing into another role

10.6 We continue to embed the annual performance excellence cycle: line manager and team members agree whether achievement of objectives and demonstration of values and behaviours have not been met, partially met, met or exceeds. Providing an organisation, team and individual picture of our people performance. The PDR system has been reviewed and adapted to support introduction of the national reward reform programme; Pay Progression Standard. A talent development framework has been developed, measuring performance and potential as part of the annual performance excellence cycle, including:

- Talent grid
- Performance and potential peer calibration framework
- Talent Boards for all stages of leadership
- Aligned to development planning and activity for all stages of leadership.

The primary purpose was to identify and develop talent and potential, embed career development processes and utilise positive actions for optimal impact in talent development. Performance and potential calibration were carried out in early 2024 for Chief Inspector ranks and above (including police staff equivalents). The aim of talent calibration was:

- Early identification of candidates for succession planning, fast track programmes and retention risks
- Gain visibility of leadership talent pool
- Check quality of performance management

10.7 The Force has committed to deliver the Operation Soteria National Operating Model (NOM) alongside all 43 forces in England & Wales. The Force is managing this as a Tier 1 project over 18-24 months until the principles are embedded in as business as usual (BAU) for RASSO investigations. The aims of the project are to transform the end-to-end response and investigation of rape, leading to increased service to victims and improved criminal justice outcomes. The project has full Tier 1 governance with a Chief Officer as the Senior Responsible Officer; held to account through the Safeguarding Governance group and IMPACT Board where requested. There is also an accountability structure nationally via the Regional Practice Leads from the National Operation Soteria team.

11. Principle F – Managing risks and performance through robust internal control and strong public financial management

Managing risk
Expected behaviours and outcomes
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Recognising that risk management is an integral part of all activities and must be regarded as a continuous process. • Implementing robust and integrated risk management arrangements and ensuring that they are working effectively. • Ensuring that responsibilities for managing individual risks are clearly allocated. • Ensuring that the Force is risk aware and that its risk appetite is defined and communicated clearly to those responsible for making decisions.

11.1 The Governance of Audit and Inspection Board is well established and continues to meet on a regular basis. This Board provides assurance that strategic and operational risks are being effectively managed and that action to respond to audit findings and recommendations is being taken. The board is chaired by the Deputy Chief Constable. Updates are presented to the Joint Independent Audit Committee on a six-monthly basis and are reported to the Executive Management Board quarterly.

11.2 Cleveland Police has taken an integrated approach to embedding risk management and service continuity planning within the Force via an agreed programme. The programme of reviewing and updating business continuity plans is progressing well on a systematic basis and a programme of testing and exercising against those plans is in place. The Force continues to ensure that robust service continuity plans are in place and that a risk management culture is embedded, with updates reported to the Executive Management Board quarterly.

11.3 The Force maintains a strategic risk register along with operational risk registers for each business area. The risk management process is overseen by the Strategic Finance Manager with strategic risks being reviewed on a quarterly basis by the Executive Management Board and further scrutiny by the Joint Audit Committee on a six-monthly basis.

- 11.4 Each business area within the Force has a risk ‘champion’ who has received additional risk management training and meets with the Risk and Insurance Manager on a regular basis to review the area’s risk register. All new and emerging risks that are identified during these meetings, that may be considered to be a strategic risk, are progressed through the risk escalation process for moderation and remitted to the Executive Management Board for agreement before being included on the strategic risk register.

Managing performance Expected behaviours and outcomes
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Monitoring service delivery effectively including planning, specification, execution and independent post implementation review. • Making decisions based on relevant, clear, objective analysis and advice, pointing out the implications and risks inherent in the Force’s financial, social and environmental position and outlook. • Ensuring an effective scrutiny or oversight function is in place which encourages constructive challenge and debate on policies and objectives before, during and after decisions are made thereby enhancing the Force’s performance and that of any organisation for which it is responsible. • Providing the PCC and chief officers with regular reports on service delivery plans and on progress towards outcome achievement. • Ensuring there is consistency between specification stages (such as budgets) and post implementation reporting (e.g. financial statements).

- 11.5 The Force has an agreed Performance & Accountability Framework with the PCC which includes a timetable of monthly Scrutiny Meetings chaired by the Police and Crime Commissioner including details of the subject(s) to be discussed. The reports and minutes from these meetings are available on the PCCs website. Terms of reference and a programme of work have been agreed for these meetings to minimise bureaucracy and duplication. Questions (with context and rationale) are provided two weeks in advance with Corporate Services facilitating the collation of the Force response, in collaboration with relevant business leads/subject matter experts.
- 11.6 In addition, the PCC has continued to hold a quarterly performance scrutiny meeting at which he will hold the Force to account in relation to our contributions towards the delivery of his Police and Crime Plan. To facilitate this process, we have developed and agreed a Performance Outcome Framework, using appropriate performance measures, as set out in the Police and Crime Plan.
- 11.7 There is a governance schedule for all of the strategic contracts, which include regular contract and performance meetings with both the PFI board, and their appointed facilities management providers Tascor FM (for PFI Action Stations), Equans for the PFI Tactical Training Centre at Urray Nook. Mitie Care & Custody are the service providers for the delivery of Custody Management and Medical Services elements and are also held to account during regular contract and performance meetings.

- 11.8 The Police and Crime Commissioner for Cleveland and Cleveland Police Joint Corporate Governance Framework include the Contract Standing Orders, Financial Regulations and Scheme of Delegation, along with the roles and responsibilities of chief officers. The Framework is reviewed on an annual basis, and the outcome of the review is reported to the Joint Independent Audit Committee.
- 11.9 In line with the Contract Standing Orders, the Force reports to the Joint Independent Audit Committee all instances of exemptions to these standing orders, on a six-monthly basis.
- 11.10 Regular budget monitoring reports, including an analytical review, are produced for all budget holders and are underpinned by monthly ‘budget clinics’ between the budget holder and Finance Business Partner.
- 11.11 The Force has recently developed a structured approach to commissioning work which will provide greater oversight, projects and programmes of work are managed using project and programme management principles. This ensures that projects and programmes provide measurable benefits to the Force: are aligned to strategic objectives and are governed appropriately. Regular monitoring of all change activity through the Digital, Data and Change Board will minimise the risk of projects being over budget or being delivered outside of timescales, and it will help ensure that resources are appropriately allocated to minimise project failure. Strategic oversight of all change activity will be provided at Chief Officer level.

Robust internal control
Expected behaviours and outcomes
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Aligning the risk management strategy and policies on internal control with achieving the Force’s objectives. • Evaluating and monitoring the Force’s risk management and internal control on a regular basis. • Ensuring effective counter fraud and anti-corruption arrangements are in place. • Ensuring additional assurance on the overall adequacy and effectiveness of the framework of governance, risk management and control is provided by the internal auditor. • Ensuring an independent audit committee or equivalent group or function, which is independent of the executive and accountable to the PCC and chief constable, provides a further source of effective assurance regarding arrangements for managing risks and maintaining an effective control environment and that its recommendations are listened to and acted upon.

- 11.12 The Force and the OPCC for Cleveland have a shared internal audit service and agree a programme of internal audit work at the start of each financial year. During the financial year 2023-24, as well as follow up audits for previous internal audit management actions; visit 1 and 2, Internal Audit have completed audits in the following areas:
- Overtime;
 - Seized and Found Property (Official Sensitive);

- HR: Training;
- Sickness Absence;
- Police and Crime Plan;
- Vetting;
- Health and Safety;
- Victims’ Code;
- Data Quality;
- Ethical Standards;
- Performance and Capability Management (report not yet finalised);
- ICT Vulnerability and Initial Response (report not yet finalised).

These reports were presented to, and scrutinised by, the Joint Audit Committee. The reports are made available on the Police & Crime Commissioner’s website, except those with the protection marking ‘Official Sensitive’.

Two actions remain outstanding from audits prior to 2023-24, one High and one Low Risk. Both will to be reviewed for closure by RSM in their June 2024 Follow-up Audit. The updated position of all live actions is reported to the Joint Audit Committee twice a year.

Managing data
Expected behaviours and outcomes
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Ensuring effective arrangements are in place for the safe collection, storage, use and sharing of data, including processes to safeguard personal data. • Ensuring effective arrangements are in place and operating effectively when sharing data with other bodies. • Reviewing and auditing regularly the quality and accuracy of data used in decision making and performance monitoring.

- 11.13 Cleveland Police adopted the Government Security Classification (GSC) in April 2016, which describes the required technical, physical, personnel and procedural security control measures that are commensurate with different classifications of data. The baseline training for all officers and staff currently comprises two e-learning packages: “Managing Information” (in two variants for operational and non-operational staff), and “Government Security Classification Scheme”, both mandated for completion every two years. Information Asset Owners are expected to also complete “Protecting Information Level 2”.
- 11.14 Police forces are expected to implement the baseline security controls as described in the Police Digital Services’ SyAp framework, which is managed by the Information Security Manager working closely with the ICT Department. In addition, the Information Security Manager conducts security reviews both internally and externally to ensure that police data is appropriately secured. These reviews culminate in the issue of recommendations for improvement where needed.
- 11.15 The Force has designated the Deputy Chief Constable as the Senior Information Risk Owner (SIRO), with responsibility for information assurance governance and risk ownership in the Force; including shared risks with other organisations, partnerships and third-party suppliers. The function of the SIRO is to also understand how the strategic business goals of the Force may be affected by failures in the secure use of the Force's information systems, to ensure that information risks are managed and to accept or decline to accept any residual risk.

- 11.16 The Data Protection Officer and the Force Information Security Manager meets with the SIRO on a regular basis and has direct access to discuss urgent issues outside of these meetings when necessary.
- 11.17 The completion of Data Protection Impact Assessments is mandated when new systems are being developed and when we intend to process personal data that attracts high risks to individuals.
- 11.18 Information security requirements are designed into documentation where Cleveland Police share information with partners. This is intended to provide the Force with an adequate level of assurance that information provided will be appropriately handled, stored, disseminated and disposed of when no longer needed.
- 11.19 Six monthly reports on information management, incorporating data protection matters, information rights, information security, records management and the Disclosure Barring Service are presented to the Joint Independent Audit Committee to provide assurances that Cleveland Police has implemented the necessary technical, physical, personnel and procedural security controls to protect its information and satisfy national information assurance requirements that are pertinent to the government and policing. These reports are available on the PCCs website.
- 11.20 Cleveland Police has adopted the College of Policing's Authorised Professional Practice (APP) for data protection (October 2023) and information sharing (February 2020). APP is the official source of professional practice on policing. Cleveland Police are committed to achieving compliance with the Information Commissioner's Governance and Accountability Self Assessment Toolkit detailing the ICO's expectations of Data Controllers, progress towards compliance is reported to the Digital, Data and Change Board on a quarterly basis. This Board manages the governance and oversight of information risk.

Strong public financial management Expected behaviours and outcomes
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Ensuring financial management supports both long term achievement of outcomes and short term financial and operational performance.
